

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A suspension system for a vehicle includes a frequency dependent damper (FDD) shock absorber defining a first pressurized working chamber. An air spring assembly defines a second pressurized working chamber. A booster enables pressure communication between the first pressurized working chamber and the second pressurized working chamber.